A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 29, 1882.

"Gentlemen—My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1885.

Gen Logan will be given an enthusiastic reception on his arrival in Washington.

In these days of bad appointments the principal excuse of the Mugwumps boiled down is that the President means well but don't know any better. Rather a doubtful compliment to Mr Cleveland's fitness for his high office.

It is now said that Congressman Barksdale is the prominent Mississippian who denounced the Administration for calling for Mende's resignation. We thought as much as the Mississippi Congressmen think it is perfectly legitimate to shoot Republican voters.

The Boston Traveller says that the removal of Mr Clarence Pullen "is hardly in line with the Administration's general policy. Just how it differs from the 'policy' of the President is only apparent to those officials whose turn to step down and out has not yet come.

Again the Mugwump organs disagree. The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of George W. Julian as Surveyor General of New Mexico an excellent one, but the New York Times says the selection of such a variegated political fossil is not in the interest of reform. The Times ought to be a good judge of variegated politics.

The New York World enraged at the inability of the Democrats to maintain their campaign charges of fraud so completely refuted by the count of the vast funds in the treasury, reiterates the exploded charges against the Commissioner of Agriculture. The World is entitled to some leniency as it is not happy in a political sense of the word.

The President has at last taken care of Gen Roser by appointing him a successor to Register Bruce. The last named gentleman was removed on the ground that he was a poor accountant. But if Justice Field of California, can be considered authority the new Register is not good for anything being nothing more or less than a Crank according to his judicial mind. Whose mistake is this?

We see by the papers that ex-Governor Dodge's address is still Washington D. C., occupation begging for offices as usual. Up to date however he has not met with much success. He should take a few lessons from Hon Frank Jones, who goes to the Capital with no eye to politics, but gobbles up the offices for his friends to which the other fellows are blocking the waiting rooms in the White House.

The New York Evening Post gives all the advice that is necessary to the Republican party in New York for the coming election.—Providence Journal

But the Republican party has no use for advice coming from that quarter. A paper that received and deserved the title of chief of the bureau of defamation in the last campaign that glories in slander and falsehood and feasts its readers on hypocrisy and deceit is not capable of giving advice worth mentioning.

Notwithstanding the reports sent out from Washington that the President and his Cabinet are almost worked to death, Secretary Bayard is able to leave his desk for a trip that will keep him away several weeks. This is all right under a reform Administration but if a Republican Secretary of State had gone roaming over the country before he had fairly time to become familiar with the routine of his office every Democratic and Mugwump paper would have denounced it as an outrage upon the people.

Active in the Sixth Auditor's office who has been promoted several times in the civil service rules for efficiency. Yesterday he was removed not on demanding to know of the cause he was informed that he was an offensive partisan. It having been represented to the reformers now running the Government that this clerk with some others had given three cheers for the Plumed Knight when it was reported that Mr Blaine had been elected he was notified to be a subject for removal for abuse of his fine record in the department. New for the Mugwumps join in a chorus of praise for this splendid vindicator of civil service reform.

The Democrats of New York are annoying the Boston Herald, indebted to Secretary Manning for nearly getting Judge Mayard out of the way in the fall election. Two years ago Maynard, who is a conservative Democrat was a candidate for Secretary of State but many members of the party refused to vote for him and he was defeated. His friends however demanded that he be given a renomination this year and matters were getting serious when Mr Manning who is dividing his time between running the Treasury Department and the New York machine came to the rescue and appointed Maynard as Second Comptroller of the Treasury. Mr Hill, of course, is in the interest of reform.

The New York Herald scolds Mr Bayard for neglecting Bayless W. Hanna of Indiana as Minister to Persia remarking that Hanna is not fit for any diplomatic position. A few days ago, however, the Administration papers were parading Ex Senator McDonald's indorsement of the President, and one of the very acts that Mr McDonald heartily commended was the President's admirable selection of three worthy representatives of Indiana Democracy—including Hanna—for diplomatic positions. Now the question naturally arises if Senator McDonald shot so wide of the mark as to indorse the President for selecting a man not fit for any diplomatic position what value is to be attached to his indorsement of the President's acts in general?

Nast has slopped over again. In the last Harpers he has a picture representing the Dolphin as appealing to that ancient mariner, Secretary Whitney against being sent to sea lest it should make him, the Dolphin seasick. This pictorial slur at American shipbuilding was evidently prepared before the new despatch boat so remarkably demonstrated its seagoing qualities, and the effort to "boom" Mr Cleveland's Naval Secretary for his frivolous and unsuccessful attempt to discredit a vessel simply because she was contracted for by his predecessor, proves a laughable failure. If Secretary Whitney has as little idea of a ship as Nast has of a dolphin, according to his picture, they both stand in more danger of getting seasick than John Roach's sixteen knot steamer.

Collector Chase has retained the former deputies in this State, as their services are indispensable to the proper transaction of the business of the department at this time. The new collector is doubtless impressed with his own inefficiency and is afraid to make any changes until he has had some little experience in the office. This arrangement, however, does not please some of the hungry aspirants for deputyships who think they are at least as well qualified as the collector himself, and as the reformers in Washington turned out an experienced officer to make room for Chase, they see no reason why the same theory should not at once be extended to cover their cases. The Democratic papers console them as best they can by assuring them that the present appointments are but temporary.

The City Council of Chicago has declared Carter Harrison elected, a result that has been anticipated from the first. Harrison's majority on the face of the returns was 375, but the evidence gathered shows over 1,200 votes which the Harrison "machine" will have to prove were not fraudulent. This number is of those about which no doubt can be raised of their fraudulent character. There are several hundred votes besides which are of a sufficiently fraudulent character to base a contest upon. With the fraudulent votes backed up by certain proof, Harrison's majority disappears and Judge Smith is left with a majority of 810 votes. This will place the burden of proof upon the Democrats to sustain the Mayor in his position. It is expected that quo warranto proceedings will be instituted in the present week.

It is really pitiful to notice the desperate efforts of the Mugwump organs to exclude from their columns any mention of the repeated disregard of all civil service rules by the Administration. For instance the President has just arbitrarily removed Mr Clarence Pullen from his position of Surveyor General of New Mexico. Mr Pullen was an efficient officer and is indorsed by the Boston Herald as follows.

Mr Clarence Pullen, the present incumbent, was appointed by President Arthur last autumn. He is man of the highest character and efficiency and his appointment was the defeat of a corrupt ring which had dominated the Territory for years. If he had remained in office, he would have administered his office with honesty and efficiency. And yet the Herald pores over the removal of such an officer for no other reason than to make room for a renegade Republican without a word of censure, while in another place it publishes a long article eulogizing President Cleveland, who, it says, fully meets the expectations of the so-called reformers.

Rumors of a Cabinet rupture are once more current, and this time are given to the public by the Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald. It is said that Attorney General Garland, notwithstanding the fact that he has secured important positions for two of his friends in the face of a most bitter opposition, on the ground that neither of them were suitable men, is indignant because the President charged his appointment of a marshal in Iowa in obedience to the demands of the political clans in that State and contrary to the wishes of Mr Garland. He contemplated sending in his resignation at the time, but finally concluded not to inflict this terrible calamity upon the public, although he is still nursing his resentment and is liable to do something desperate on the first provocation. Mr Cleveland should watch his Attorney General as a man who does not hesitate to wipe out a Constitutional amendment to suit his purposes might give an opinion declaring the office of President vacant if everything is not in the satisfactory for him.

The President Hendricks was so eager to get all of his friends in office that he lost the run of his numerous indorsements of the papers submitted to him, a fact that led him into rather a ridiculous position as will be seen by the following Washington despatch. Just after the inauguration Mr Hendricks was asked to endorse Dr Matthews, of Indiana for an office. As the applicant was an old and valued friend he did so with pleasure. The affair passed out of his mind until he was requested to urge the immediate attention of the authorities to the matter. He replied to Dr Matthews at note saying that he would attend to it at once. This he tried his best to remember the office his friend was after but for the life of him he could not recall any incident which would give him the slightest clew. He thought the matter over very carefully and finally made up his mind that it must be some office where the doctor could serve the government in the practice of his profession. So he went to the office of the Surgeon General of the navy and afterwards to the Surgeon General of the army but there officers said he had not asked for anything for as they knew. Finally he went over and had a talk with Surgeon General Hamilton of the revenue marine hospital service. Dr Hamilton told him that he had left no papers there, but, he added, possibly Appointment Clerk Higgins might know something about them. Mr Hendricks said he was in a hurry to get out of town and would esteem it a personal favor if Dr Hamilton would see Mr Higgins for him. Dr Hamilton said he would and called the next day. He was considerably surprised and somewhat amused to find that the papers and endorsements left by the Vice President were documents urging the appointment of Dr Matthews as Surgeon General of the revenue marine hospital service. He has written Mr Hendricks informing him of the facts in the case, but has not as yet received a reply.

Commissioner Black

DISCHARGING EFFICIENT CLERKS AND TO FILING AN EXPLANATION.

[Washington Dispatch.]

General Black, the new Commissioner of Pensions, carries things with a high hand in the Bureau. The lesson taught him when he attempted to bulldoze Miss Ada Sweet into resigning her office does not seem to have lasted very long. He is just now discharging clerks right and left. Most of them seem to be too much afraid to ask the Commissioner why they have been discharged. They know, perhaps, that if they did they would get little satisfaction. This certainly was the experience of Mr Ferguson, a $900 clerk who received his discharge papers on Thursday. He had been appointed to his place under the civil service rules about nine months ago. He had served his probationary period of six months to the satisfaction of his immediate superiors. He was efficient, painstaking, assiduous and prompt in his work. No complaint had been lodged against him. But he was a "nigger." That was enough. He was marked for dismissal, and dismissed he was on Thursday. No cause was assigned.

It was only natural that Ferguson should want to know the reasons why he was so summarily discharged. He made bold enough to enter the Commissioner's room in the course of the afternoon on the day following his discharge. The great man sat at his desk. Ferguson approached him with some trepidation. "Mr Commissioner," he finally blurted out, "would you be kind enough to let me know upon what grounds my services were dispensed with?" As soon as Mr Commissioner Black had recovered sufficiently from the shock which such brazen-faced conduct on the part of his interlocutor had given him, he thundered, "No, Sir, I will not. What do you mean? Messenger," turning to one of the doorkeepers who stood near by, "did this man send in his card?" The messenger shook his head. "Then I can't do anything for you, Mr Ferguson." And this is all the satisfaction which Mr Ferguson was able to obtain from General Black.

If there were other instances wanting to illustrate Commissioner Black's curious mode of doing business it might be well perhaps to mention the order posted last week in the main corridor of the Pension Building interdicting the collection, during business hours, of money to defray the expenses of decorating the graves of soldiers on Decoration Day. And upon what ground do you think was this order given? Upon the high moral ground that it was wrong to take up the time which ought to be devoted to the examination of the claims of widows and orphans and use it in collecting money for a purpose which could be of no practical benefit to anybody.

Getting Beyond the Larval State

[Chicago Tribune.]

The New York Evening Post (Mugwump) observes that the American people "applaud the firmness with which the President has resisted the pressure of the spoils-hunters." By a coincidence this observation was printed the very day when the President capitulated, without terms, to the Iowa spoils-hunters and a day or two after he let Attorney General Garland bully him into appointing Montgomery, the enemy of the public schools, as Attorney of the Interior Department, where he will have control over them. The Post has passed beyond the Mugwump state of existence and has developed into a Democratic insect which does more whitewashing for the Administration than any paper in New York City.

His Death the Result of an Accident

[Salt Lake Gazette.]

The premature death of Mr Fergus (Hugh Crawford) is the more melancholy because it was actually the result of a trifling accident. He had recovered from the attack of typhoid fever which seized him at Monte Carlo and had gone for a drive into the country. On the way back the horses became so restive that he left the carriage and had to wait till another was fetched. The shock to his nerves might have passed off but unluckily he caught a chill, and within a few hours there was a relapse of the fever in an aggravated form. He was delirious during the last week of his life and ultimately died of exhaustion.

BREAKFAST.

By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.

WASHINGTON, June 4. The President has appointed John J. Dudley Postmaster at Newport, N. H.

Magnitude of the Indian Troubles

A despatch received at the War Department to-day from General Schofield, states that it is impossible to give further protection to settlers in Arizona and New Mexico from the marauding Indians. He says the damage has already been done. To actually guard all the settlements would take a much larger army than the United States army. General Crook and Colonel Bradley have, he says, all the troops they can use in pursuit of the Indians. General Schofield gives it as his opinion that the only way to protect settlers from the marauding Indians is to keep the savages under control and not let them roam over a large reservation. General Crook says the hostiles have hidden their women and children in the mountains and divided themselves into small raiding parties, which makes it difficult for the troops to capture them. General Crook will endeavor to prevent the Indians from making their way into Mexico. No citizens have been reported killed since the 28th ult.

The Fashions

(New York Evening Post.)

Absinthe, Chartreuse, and Creason are three striking and trying colors in pale green, which still predominate in millinery garnitures.

Criminal use of velvet, brocade, and other handsome materials are again carried down the centre of the backs on elegant imported French costumes.

To Gertrude McF— we reply that ruby, cardinal green, sang de bœuf, and poppy are all fashionable shades of red, but they are not now seen in the garnitures in which they prevailed the dress of last year at this season. For a court train for evening, a mass of brilliant color is suitable and often exceedingly becoming, but in a dress designed for ordinary use it is pretentious. A soft neutral tint, picked out with cardinal or ruby, is now much more frequently seen, and the velvet garnitures match the shade of the gay figures in the material.

A very tasteful reception dress just finished at a leading up-town importing house, and designed for the mother of a prospective bride is made of silver gray satin and silver brocade. The latter has velvet flowers upon the satin ground, and the outlines of the richly wrought silver threads. The ball-room bodice is made of this as well as the less rich back of the skirt, the front consisting of the silver gray satin covered with flounces alternately of fan pleatings of satin and duchesse lace. The bodice is closed down the front with red silver buttons in filigree set with tiny Parisian gems, the buttons representing a small whip lash in design.

A very charming toilet recently worn consisted of a red satin and velvet skirt of pale blue crepe trimmed with silver lace and silver-colored ribbons. The bodice was cut with a low neck and short sleeves and gave full display of white lace worn caught up on the shoulders with small silver butterflies, bodies formed of Rhine stones.

A crowd of strawberries is shown made of cardinal silk, down which runs a fold that plays on which are placed buttons or handsome beaded or jet ones. They are cut very tight-fitting and close on the sides with a handsome bow of some form in round point in front that is not only big, plaited the plaits outlined with gold and silk cord, pendants to front the whole and bead drops are trimmed down the silk and gold passementerie.

White wool dress swell form a strong feature of summer wardrobes both for dressy indoor use and for out-of-door wear on the seaside and in the mountains. The after is rather more under made, and but little trimmed tucks and let woolen braid being the choice. The fabrics for these are twilled serge, diagonals, bison cloth, canvas goods, and clothes. For indoor and dressy wear generally these are white moire, serges, satins, silk linen albatrosses, nuns cloth, and shale goods and a thousand other which we have seen which in great measure thus give rise the place of those white fabrics in attire. For the reason that summer resorts the fabrics made of the female fabrics. Do not be alarmed and quadruple their original cost during season before frequently visits to the fashionables.
